other clinical faculty and senior staff.

Other specific duties include:

- Processing incoming legal documents and queries directed to the clinical office, requiring calendaring, telephone contacts, and information collection and transmittal.
- Creating and managing advertisements and promotional materials for clinical programs and events.
- Managing the clinical legal education program's social media postings and presence along with its various websites to ensure accuracy and updates.
- Assisting the director of clinics and senior clinical leadership with a wide variety of administrative duties, including managing project-related preparations, logistics, communications, and data.
- Assisting student attorneys and clinicians with administrative tasks such as printing, scanning, and mailing documents.
- Coordinating administrative tasks for office operations, including supply ordering and equipment maintenance work orders.
- Providing administrative support for faculty conferences, including travel planning and reimbursements.
- Preparing, updating, and managing documents for annual reporting requirements.
- Identifying, screening, training, and supervising student assistants.
- Other duties as deemed appropriate by your supervisor to support clinical students and faculty in the running and promotion of the clinical legal program.

Our Clinical Legal Education program offers diverse and sophisticated practice opportunities to second-year, third-year, and LL.M. students working closely with skilled faculty clinicians. Our clinical offerings involve cutting-edge issues and complex matters in which creativity and innovation play key roles in serving clients effectively.

The mission of the Clinical Legal Education Program is: "Delivering access to justice while teaching UB law students to be excellent, ethical, and engaged lawyers."

The University at Buffalo School of Law's Clinical Legal Education Program seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the diverse people of Buffalo, to maintain the excellence of the university and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.
