Description

Postdoctoral position in responsible research and innovation in drug discovery and development at the Centre for Advanced Studies in Biomedical Innovation Law (CeBIL)

The Faculty of Law, University of Copenhagen, is seeking qualified applicants for the position as postdoc. The position is associated with the research project RESPOND3 “Towards better computational approaches and responsible innovation strategies in early drug discovery: application to antibiotics and COPD” funded through the Center for Digital Life Norway, an initiative from the BIOTEK2021 program of the Research Council of Norway. The position is available from 1 March 2020 for a full-time fixed term period of two (2) years. The start date is negotiable.

Application must be uploaded by 1 December 2019, 23:59 GMT + 1.

Please find the full description of the position here: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/>

Upload the application, appendixes and the submitted academic publications using the provided link in the job announcement.

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe’s top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation - with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture - creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.
