Position description

The Berkeley Law Policy Advocacy Clinic (PAC) seeks applications for a Clinical Supervisor. This is a non-tenure track position with the possibility of renewal contingent on funding. This is an in-person position located in Berkeley, California.

Under the supervision of the clinic directors, the Clinical Supervisors' general responsibilities include training and supervising students to provide technical legal and policy support to PAC's clients, managing two or more clinic projects per semester independently (i.e., without a co-supervisor), and performing varied administrative and other tasks to assist in clinic operation.

In PAC, interdisciplinary teams of JD and MPP students support high-impact, non-litigation campaigns on behalf of historically marginalized communities to address systemic racial and economic injustice. PAC's approach is ground-up (informed by impacted people), problem-based (addressing pressing issues) and client-driven (accountable to community organizations). Current clinic projects support campaigns to end criminal and juvenile legal system fees, reimagine restitution, and reduce mass criminalization and police misconduct.

As part of a national campaign, this position will supervise student teams supporting local organizations and coalitions in states outside California working to end racially discriminatory and regressive fees in the criminal legal system. The Clinical Supervisor will lead projects in 2-4 states, mostly in the west.

PAC and the Clinical Program are committed to building an equitable and inclusive staff to teach and work in a multicultural and antiracist learning environment. PAC provides support for Clinical Supervisors to attend conferences and other trainings that advance their professional development goals and interests.

DUTIES

Under the supervision of the Clinic Directors and in collaboration with the current Clinical Supervisors, the Clinical Supervisor will be responsible for:

Clinical Supervision and Advocacy (80%)

- Train and supervise six to eight clinic students per semester
- Manage clinic projects and vet new clinic projects
- Develop and maintain clinic relationships with clients, partners, and other stakeholders
- Travel to offsite meetings to work on client matters, often with students and out of state
- Attend and participate in the weekly clinic seminar and assist in teaching as needed
- Help manage the clinic docket during summers, winter break, and faculty leaves

Administrative Duties (15%)

- Help maintain clinic and project files, course materials, website, and social media feeds
- Organize programmatic events, such as convenings, workshops, and speaker series
- Promote the clinic to prospective students and other constituencies
- Engage in media relations and development, including speaking at public events and with the press
- Participate in professional networking, training, and development activities
- Work with other law school clinical faculty and staff to improve PAC and the clinical program

Other Duties as Assigned (5%)

- Perform other duties as needed to assist in the clinic's operation or in support of clinic goals

UC Field Work Supervisors are academic appointees in an organized bargaining unit and are exclusively represented by the American Federation of Teachers - Unit 18.
